

Glory Castello received a Bachelor of Arts from Missouri Baptist

University in December 2016, where she double majored in English and music. As a student, Glory served as assistant editor of Cantos: A Literary and Arts Journal and editorial assistant of Intégrité: A Faith and Learning Journal. In addition to being a published writer and collaborator, she is an up-and-coming blogger and continues to pursue a professional career in the editorial field. Glory lives in Fenton, Missouri, with her husband, John. Being avid musicians, the Castellós enjoy writing songs and mentoring fellow musicians, and the two serve as worship pastors at LifechurchX in Waterloo, Illinois. Quite the Pinterest addict, Glory spends the majority of her free time experimenting with DIY projects and recipes.
